AWFUL CRISIS IN A TUNNEL.

plunged a roaring locomotive. Stiffing smoke and steam seemed to rise all around, and looking back, I could see mangled persons crawling about through the mist. Then suddenly the car took fire where the locomotive was.

"Our one idea was escape. I found a friend of mine right in front of me. He cried 'Open the window, for God's sake.' I turned to the window and found the glass had all been shattered in the collision. We clambered out. I saw several persons almost covered with blood, crawling about."

The bodies of the dead and many of the wounded were hoisted through the openings in the roof of the tunnel, placed in the waiting ambulance, and rushed to the nearest hospital. No attempt was made at identification. Conflicting reports from various institutions aided by duplications from other places caused the first account of the disaster to place the number of killed and injured at an exaggerated figure.

The tunnel in which the wreck occurred extends from 55th st. just above the Grand Central station and is about two miles long. It is under Park ave. and there is an air hole in each block. Complaints have been made for a long time however, that its ventilation was insufficient and the New York Central has been considering plans for the use of electric power in the subway so as to do away with the smoke and steam from locomotives.

J. H. Franklin, manager of the Harlem division made the following statement. So far as can be learned, the wrecked train was stopped by the block system because of something wrong ahead. I don't know or have not yet found out what was the matter. A flagman jumped off the train, taking a red lantern and a torpedo. He put the torpedo on the track and waved his lantern to signal any train that might come up behind. Whether the engineer saw the flagman, saw the lantern, or heard the torpedo if it went off, I don't know, and the flagman says he does not know.

ALL STAR

Caste Is Promised For
"King Dodo."

The company which will interpret that universally successful comedy opera, "King Dodo," in this city Friday night, includes Marie St. John, stunning and handsome, for many seasons a prominent member of Augustin Daly's Musical Comedy company, both in New York city and London. Her success in the Gelsia and A Runaway Girl was most pronounced. Edith Hutchins, the pretty and vivacious ingenue of the Francis Wilson Opera company, last season; Ruth Peebles, the chic and lively soubrette who scored so successfully in "The Casino Girl," at the New York Casino; Belle D'Arcy, the captivating soprano, so long associated with the Castle Square company enterprises; William Corliss, for many seasons prominent in Frank Daniels' operatic productions; Maurice Darcy, principal tenor of the Tivoli theater, San Francisco, America's greatest comic opera home; Robert Lett, whose recent success as Dr. Fizz in the Studebaker theater, Chicago, production of "King Dodo," and Charles Meyer, who also interpreted the role of Kink Dodo in Chicago, go to make up a caste that could not be well improved upon.

Like "Florodora," "King Dodo" is likely to be a reigning success for many years to come. The music of "King Dodo" was the hit of the Yale and Cornell Glee club's concert tour this season, likewise the most popular of all the receptions and balls of the year in fashionable Washington, New York, Boston and Chicago society.

Creditors Agree to Extension.

Everett-Moore Committee Is at Work.

Earnings of Properties Show
Steady Increase.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 8.—More signatures were received yesterday to the creditors' agreement extending the time for the payment of the obligations of the Everett-Moore interests. During the afternoon a number of the outside creditors met with the committee of bankers, who have the matter in charge and all evinced their willingness to keep their securities and grant the extension of 18 months.

Today or tomorrow Mr. Moore will go to New York in behalf of the committee to interview the security holders there and request an extension of time. From 10 to 15 per cent of the Everett-Moore securities are held in New York city, and the indications are that Mr. Moore will be successful in his mission.

The most important matter before the committee outside of obtaining the consent of the creditors to a prolongation of the time is the action of the Strong Contracting Company of New York in having a receiver appointed for the Toledo & Detroit railroad. The Strong Company have the contracts for part of the construction work, and being unsecured creditors they went to the courts to protect themselves. This is the only real difficulty the committee has met with in its work and what makes it a hard problem at this time is the fact that the committee hasn't the right to do anything until after it has got the consent of all the creditors to the extension of time. It will take several weeks to accomplish this first step, and in the meantime the receivership question may have to rest unless some way out of the difficulty not now seen develops in the next few days.

When Mr. Moore goes to New York it is said that he will endeavor to sell bonds for the Detroit & Ohio electric line. If he succeeds the receivership of that property will be removed.

Another matter which the committee of bankers is eager to get at and cannot touch until the extension of time has been granted by the creditors, is the sale of the People's Telephone Company's system in Detroit. The unofficial offer of Detroit citizens to pay the sum already invested in the system, $400,000, is looked upon with favor, both by members of the committee and the members of the syndicate. A man who is in close touch with the affairs of the syndicate said yesterday:

"The independent telephone companies owned by the syndicate and now in operation are paying big money, some of them 13 per cent. At present there are two systems in Ohio not yet completed, one in Dayton and the other in Zanesville. If the committee succeeds in selling the Detroit system for $400,000, the money already placed in the enterprise, it would not only relieve the syndicate from the balance of the cost, which is estimated at $800,000, but it would also give sufficient money to complete the Dayton and Zanesville systems and place them upon an earning basis."

The bankers' committee had a long session yesterday afternoon in the Savings and Trust building. Those present representing the syndicate were Henry A. Everett and Barney Mahler. Attorneys Andrew Squire and Virgil P. Kline, representing the unsecured creditors, the material men, had a conference with the committee, and at its conclusion it was said they were entirely satisfied with what was being done, and that they believed their clients' best interests would be amply protected with the methods being pursued.

While the annual report of the earnings of the various railroad interests controlled by the syndicate have not yet been compiled, the syndicate has prepared a statement showing the passenger receipts for the year just closed and also a comparison with the receipts of the year previous. In every instance a gain is shown. The Detroit United Railway in the city of Detroit shows a gain of 11.92 per cent. In passenger receipts for 1901 over 1900, the Detroit United suburban roads show a gain of 31.89 per cent, the Cleveland Electric Railway a gain of 11.42 per cent, the Toledo Railways and Light Company, 10.08 per cent, Northern Ohio Traction Company, 20.10 per

The Population of the United States In 1900.

Washington, Jan. 8.—The census bureau has issued a report announcing that the population of the United States, including all outlying possessions, was 84,233,069 in the census year of 1900. This is itemized as follows: Continental United States, 75,904,575; Philippines, 6,001,339, being the estimate of the statistician to the Philippine Commission; Porto Rico, 953,243; Hawaii, 143,001; Alaska, 63,502; Guam, 9,000; American Samoa, 6,100; persons in the military and naval service of the United States outside of the territory of the United States proper, 91,210. The census only extended to Alaska and Hawaii outside of the continental United States, but the figures for the rest of the domain are taken from the best available sources. These figures are based on the enumeration of June 1, 1900. The report says:

"The total population of the United States at the close of the nineteenth century was about 84,250,000. As the population of the United States at the beginning of the century was about 5,333,000, the Nation has grown nearly 16 fold in 100 years. There are but three countries which now have a greater population than the United States—China, the British Empire and the Russian empire."

VARIOUS

Developments of Intoxication.

One Man Arrested to Save His Money.

"I found him down town yesterday, drunk, and in tow of two bad men," said Officer McAllister, when asked about the case of Amos Daily, who was arraigned in Police Court, Wednesday morning for intoxication. "I arrested him so that he might save at least a little of his money."

Daily is a resident of Manchester, is an elderly man, and was intoxicated and bent on being a "good fellow" to two men of whom Officer McAllister was suspicious, hence the arrest.

"I'll fine you $2 and costs," said the Mayor.

"Have I got anything left?" asked the prisoner, anxiously, to Prisonkeeper Washer.

It developed that there were still enough of shakels remaining to pay his fine, and Daily went his way rejoicing.

Jess and James Seely, two farmer boys, the younger of whom is but 17 years of age, came to town, Tuesday, and surrounded stimulants in such a quantity that they were induced to begin a wrestling match on North Howard st., with the result that they wrestled through the window of a saloon, and the dragnet of the Police entwined them. Mayor Doyle made an effort to find out where the boys got the wherewith to cause them to wrestle, but they would not or could not tell. They were fined $2 and costs each, for intoxication.

Mike Ragan was on the verge of delirium tremens, when he faced the Mayor, Wednesday morning for intoxication. He could not stand still and his nervousness was most pitiful. He stated that he wanted to go to Pittsburgh, and was given an hour to get out of town. He took advantage of the privilege with such haste that he forgot his belongings, and an officer had to pursue him in the direction of the railway tracks in order to return his property.

Frank Butler, who was arrested some time ago for stealing two shirts, and released on bail, pleaded guilty in Police Court, Wednesday and was fined $10 and costs.

NAMED NEW VICE - PRESIDENT.

James Hopkins Given the Place
by Diamond Match Co.

It has just developed that the directors of the Diamond Match Company, when President O. C. Barber was in Chicago last week, made some important changes in the officials of the company. At a meeting last Thursday the resignation of First Vice President George H. Webster, which had been handed in some months ago, and was held open, was accepted. Archibald G. Lindsay of Detroit was elected director in Mr. Webster's place. Then at another meeting, Friday, James Hopkins who had been second vice president, was promoted to take Mr. Webster's place as first vice president.

Mr. Webster's retirement is said to be not the result of any friction or change of policy on the part of the controlling interests in the company. He said to a reporter that he had been in office for five or six years, and his private affairs had grown to need more time than he had been able to devote to them. He said he had contemplated resigning for some time, and that his resignation as officer and director had been in the hands of the president for several months before it was accepted.

Mr. Lindsay is a well known Detroit financier, and represents the Richardson estate, which is a large holder of Diamond Match stock. He was selected in consideration of his ability, and the large holding he represents. The annual meeting of the company will be held Feb. 5, in Chicago.
